Chapter 1 by Ryan DeAngelis

This is a message to the people who I've had the privilege of interacting with using the chat feature on this site. While I won't use any names, I hope that you'll be able to know who you are. In my times talking with you, there have been a wide variety of situations and topics, from really happy times to some of the worst. All of this has been affecting me a lot. There's a simple reason for this: I care about all of you.

I've never known any of you in person, and most not even by name. However, I still empathize with you all, because I know that behind the text, there is a keyboard manned by a person. If you're having a great day, I feel genuinely happy for you. If you're day's been terrible, then I will do everything in my power to help. I'd never want to see any of you in any sort of distress or sadness, even though I know that it's next to impossible to have that be a reality. But I still try because all of you are worth the effort. You're all caring, kind, amazing people. If there is an argument or disagreement, all I want is for it to stop so we can all go back to having fun. If I can't help, then I feel like a failure, because I wasn't able to make everyone happy, to keep the peace. I'm a failed diplomat.

Because of the events that have occurred, I have left my keyboard anxious, shaking, crying, depressed. I've left thinking about the people I just talked to, worrying about them, thinking constantly about their situations, their emotions, their well-being. I've grown much more unstable at a time when I thought my depression was under control. But I don't want to go. Stopping would entail leaving behind all of the people that I've come to care for just as much about, if not more than, the friends I have in school that I see on a daily basis. That would be worse than anything I could do.

I understand that what I feel is almost certainly not mutual. Hell, I doubt any of you have any interest in me whatsoever. I'm not even close to the person I want to be, let alone the person I could hope to be. So, if I ever say anything you don't like, tell me, and I'll do my best to fix myself. If you have any issue with me, tell me and I'll do what I can. And finally, if you ever feel lonely or sad, like no one could care less about you, please know that there's someone who cares immensely, even if we've never seen each other.

Thanks for taking the time to read this. It means more than you know.

Chapter 2 by the smiling man

The chat is a place for people to talk to each other, and I really feel like you're doing your best to talk to everybody.

Chapter 3 by Weirdfriendlessgirl

I have never ever had any real friends in my life.

People think I'm weird or stupid or so many many other things.

But here people understand me.

I can talk to people and be completely real.

I'm not socially awkward cause I can do it all without being social.

And I want to thank every single person who has taken the time to communicate with me because no one has ever done that before.

I love all of you guys with your cool names and your niceness.

And even if this one doesn't get voted through I don't care I just wanted to say thank you.

Sincerely WEG

Chapter 4 by Ryan DeAngellis

This is going to be a bit of a... Login or Create new account I expect anything to happen to it. In fact, I intentionally did this... anything from happening to it. But, after seeing what people have done with it, I'm so thankful.

You guys have been so kind in what you've said to me and about me that I can barely take it. To be honest, I don't feel deserving of it. I never would've called myself "sweet" or all too kind, but that's how I'm described whenever someone here talks about me. I thank you for all of that. Even though I've been trying to do all that I can for the people here, I still frequently feel like I'm not doing enough because I can't fix the world, but it's nice to know that my efforts are appreciated. It makes me happy beyond words whenever a compliment comes my way. All I can say is thank you, thank you so much, more than I can possibly say in text. Thank you all. So much.

Chapter 5 by Aaron Hartmann

Your're the best person I know on chat. Enough said.

Chapter 6 by robin hood

I started Story Wars back a while... I remember I only logged onto the chat on the 17th May. The day before my birthday.

But, being on the chat made my day. And all of the other days after it. I try and keep up with the conversations, watch whatever Skeld puts on there (Narwhal song), and chat with so many nice people.

Actually, I am chatting with the original author now...

@Weirdfriendlessgirl

We could be fraternal twins.

So I'm gonna thank you because I needed to hear that someone is in their situation. The truth is, we all would do what we do, these are the names our backs hear every day. But those insults wouldn't be our faults. They would be the traits linking us together.

So go ahead, dear reader, and everyone.
Be weird, awkward, anti-social.
Because you don't need people's opinions.

Every single writer on Story Wars is amazing. We have the gift of creativity, of compassion, of kindness, of magic. And we are all unicorns and tacos, dragons and heroes, dark entities and demons.

We are writers, no matter what faults we have.

Go be yourself.

Chapter 8 by Inuhoseki

I got on here like a year ago. Everything was happy go lucky, and the chat was as well. I'm not naming names, but then someone came on the chat. It was... alright at first. But then it started treating people badly for no reason (They were annoying it, I guess?). The more new people got on, it was like a contest to see who was going to be treated like dirt. And it also treated anons, no matter what, like dirt as well. It made some friends, and it was SUCH a womanizer. But when one of its friends made it mad, it found and made up reasons for its other friends not to like the other friend anymore. Especially one friend, who kept coming back and back again like an abused puppy that only knows one person and just wants to be loved. THATS when it started making cults or something like that on the chat. I admit I was one of its friends at some point. But when it made that one cult I couldn't stand, I stayed away from the chat for as long as possible so I could stall from telling it that I don't like what it was doing. One of its best friends PMed me the night before the chat got removed saying she was leaving the chat permanently. It got rid of freedom of speech on the chat, except for its freedom of speech. I guess what I'm trying to say here is, who cares what people think about you, who cares if people verbally abuse you, who cares if someone says no one likes you because whatever they say is how they feel about themselves. Remember that, my friends.
